We lived in Tan y Bwlch and went to Pentredŵr school. My grandmother Margaret Jones lived in the row of houses in the village next to the post office run by Elsa and Charles Edwards. Knew everyone in the row. I would often have a sleepover at Nains and remember having 2d for sweets at the shop. Len fish would come on Fridays and ??Glyn Bwtchar from Glyndyfrdwy. Meat in back of van. No refrigeration or hand gel in those days....even hot summer days!! Ok if you were first stop I suppose.

Heather Ellis

This is my great grandmother Ann Lloyd in the garden of the Mill Plas yn Pentre where she lived with her second husband Joseph Jones in the late 1890s her first husband my great grandfather John Lloyd died when he was only 37 he worked at Dinbren Farm Llangollen and they lived then at Caledfryn Llangollen she was a hard working woman and used to ride a horse buggy (cart?) back and to to Cefn Mawr from the Mill.

Ann Webster

I remember visiting someone in Pentredŵr. I think it was a girl known to a friend of mine .So frustrating I can't remember the person's name. If anyone remembers Ann Griffiths from New Hall please contact me .

My Nain Doris Williams is in this photo, along with her father Dai Williams her daughter Barbara Bishop and Ellis.

4 generations in the photo standing behind my 2x great taid and my mum sitting on Ellis' knee, I remember my Nain telling me when it rained heavy they had to open the back door and the front door to let the water run straight through she said it was like a river, she also used to visit a farm down the road that belonged to a relative who would give her sour milk she could never get enough of it all through her life, they moved to Wrexham in the 1920's but would visit Ellis every week.

I was brought up in Dinbren Ucha, Eglwyseg. I have never seen this photo before. The village shop was run by Marian Twadowski. I went to this chapel every Sunday with my mother Nancy who was born in Tanyfron. Her two brothers Richard and Eddie had wonderful bass voices. I was married there in 1974. So many memories.
